Trophies presented by Joyce McCrae, National Chairman

This show will go down in history for “the cherry cake saga.” This was a given recipe using a 7” tin. However some members’ cakes tins were metric and not exactly 7”. Judge measured the cakes, and some were fractionally smaller and so were disqualified as not as schedule. Plus, there were 3 cakes missing at the end of the show.

It had been decided not to give gifts to judges just offer expenses, and to judge to 6 places, then later changed to implement the pointing system recommended by Headquarters. Due to this and the large number of entries an extra 10 judges were asked in April. There were pros & cons to this system, some judges said they would not judge again if they had to point every item. It was agreed to record number of entries

Guests were invited for lunch, stewards to get a bacon roll but to buy their own lunch.

Groups organised members to do demonstrations on the Wednesday night and Thursday to encourage more visitors.

More helpers were required for tea kitchen. It was decided there would be no concession on entry price for wearing Rural badge. Fay Calder made a fruit cake for guess the weight of the cake. Show made nearly £2000 profit

- Individual entries 1561 entered 1255 presented.
- 21 Team works, 10 Handcrafts, 26 Housewives

FEDERATION SHOW 2005

A given recipe for sultana cake to be 7” Approx. Just 1 wine class either red or white

Individual entries not to be pointed only placed. Following suggestion after 2003 show it was decided to change from 25 members and under to 20 members and under for trophies

Judges to be given a tea towel.

There was a lengthy and difficult discussion on whether stewards had to pay when show was open, put to a vote and it was decided to charge.

Catering for judges, stewards and guests; - it was decided to do this ourselves, with a final change to soup, roll & sweet for judges/ steward on the Wednesday (stewards had to pay), and guests having Afternoon tea on the Thursday. This had not been a viable exercise as the catering facilities were not suitable.

It was decided to have a bits and bobs table. Refund from the council of £100 due to the leaking roof

- Individual entries 1731 entered 1348 presented.
- 23 Team works, 13 Handcrafts, 31 Housewives

FEDERATION SHOW 2008

Trophies presented by Janette Rothead, Federation Honorary member

In May 2007 some of the committee had a meeting with Steven Jack from the Council. He suggested in the nicest possible manner “as it might be more mature ladies using the facility, he could drop the hourly rate from £42 to £31.50”. As the facility would have catering, we would not be able to have tea or baking kitchens.

As this was a new building it would not be necessary to go in as early on set up day as we would not need to clean hall before we started.

We were not allowed to have an admission charge but could have a box for donations at the entrance, (suggested donation £1)

Competition to design new show poster was won by Mima Telfer Mennock.

At the February 2008 meeting we were told the council were confident DG1 would be open end of March, but if not, we could use Loreburn Hall. It was decided regardless of venue we would not have a baking kitchen but have a home baking stall, items to be wrapped. It was noted that at the lower hourly rate, less hours, not requiring electrician or sound system cost would be approx. £400 less than Loreburn Hall.

Raffle tickets: - a mix up had occurred with community workshop, who only printed 200 books instead of 2000, as they had now closed, tickets were reprinted elsewhere. After these were distributed it was noticed price had not been printed on the ticket, these had to be retrieved and rectified using a small hand stamp and redistributed.

It was decided not to use table drapes and to have name badges for committee A disclaimer to be added to claim form "Due to Health and Safety implications baking item are removed at exhibitors' own risk."

On 17th March six members of the committee attended DG One, the building was still not handed over to the council but were assured we would be able to use facility. Catering was still not confirmed, but we would not be allowed to do anything in the building ourselves, the option of taking judges to the nearby Railway Club where we could cater was still an option if necessary.

We did have our show in DG One. before it was officially opened, it was agreed it was an excellent venue for the show. Slight upset re catering but it was smoothed over by last day of show . Some stewards had made a complaint regarding having to pay for their lunch, only stewards still with judge and who had not finished judging were allowed to have lunch paid. Suggestion made for future, perhaps only have coffee and tea served before judging and all stewards to receive lunch. It was noted that some areas do not require 2 stewards per judge.

Judges were presented with a federation mug filled with tablet and a keyring. Janette Rothead was presented with a bottle of Glenmorangie. Show made a profit of about £300

- Individual entries 1260 entered 1083 presented.
- 50 institute entries
